

Make a Difference Week 2020

In light of the current cultural climate as part of our Make a Difference Day event we would like to open up a dialogue by shedding light on the cultural history of our area and how the past has influenced our lives today.

"The History of Racist Policy and Resistance in Rochester"

This forum is being presented by local teacher, Shane Wiegand

A Zoom talk that examines how federal policies like redlining, racially restrictive covenants, and urban renewal, segregated Rochester. It explores how local civil rights leaders like Howard Coles, Dr. Walter Cooper, Connie Mitchell, Alice Young and many others fought back. The final focus will be the connection of how past policies led to the disparity and inequality we see in Rochester today.
