COUNSELING CENTER UPDATE
OCTOBER

IMPORTANT DATES:

October 7       SAT Registration deadline for Nov. 5 exam
October 19      PSAT/NMSQT exam will be given to all juniors during the school day
October 22      ACT exam date
October 25      National Christian College Fair, Pearce Memorial Church 7-9 p.m.
October 28      Music College Fair, Eastman School of Music, 5-7 p.m.

DURING THE MONTH OF OCTOBER RH SCHOOL COUNSELORS WILL BE...

Sophomore counselors will be going into classrooms this month to work with students through Naviance. Specifically, they will be focusing on College and Career readiness.

Junior counselors will be meeting with students regarding the upcoming PASAT/NMSQT that all Juniors will take on October 19th.

Senior counselors presented a lot of information to students in homeroom during the last weeks of September. This included much of what will be mailed home to parents/guardians in the upcoming weeks. The information included the “Senior Letter”, a transcript and other important Class of 2017 information. Senior counselors are meeting with seniors for their “Senior Interviews.” Every 12th grade student is responsible for scheduling this appointment with their school counselor. Please bring an updated copy of your résumé, along with a completed “Parent Brag Sheet” to this meeting. Having a current résumé is very important as counselors consult these for scholarship nominations. The “Parent Brag Sheet” assists counselors when writing letters of recommendation for students. Both Ms. Tabone and Mrs. Kinsman have begun processing college applications using Naviance Family Connection. Teachers will submit letters of recommendation on a student’s behalf using Naviance Family Connection as well. Please make sure you are accessing Naviance for College and Career information.

Remember- ANY request for a schedule change must now go to the grade level Achievement Team. The process for requesting a schedule change is as follows:

1. Student must completely fill out the pink form (available on-line or directly from the school counselor). The completed form must include a written explanation and signature from both the teacher and a parent/guardian.
2. The pink sheet must be given to the counselor who takes it to the next scheduled meeting of the Achievement Team.
3. The Achievement Team will review the request. (This may include conferencing with the student and/or parent/guardian at the meeting.
4. A committee member will relay the final decision to the student, parent/guardian and teacher.

FLCC to host SUNY Financial Aid Days

On Saturday, October 15th
from 9:45 until 12:30

Need help completing the FAFSA for the 2017-2018 academic year?
Come to this hands-on filing workshop and let staff from the Financial Aid and One Stop Offices assist.

To register, go to:

The Free Application for Federal Student Aid, also known as the FAFSA, is the application that students must complete to apply for federal student aid. Federal student aid includes Federal Pell Grants, federal student loans and work study opportunities. Two major changes to the FAFSA will take effect for the 2017-2018 school year. (The 2017-2018 school year runs from July 1, 2017, through June 30, 2018.)

1. The FAFSA will be available earlier (October 1 of the previous school year instead of January 1 of the upcoming school year).

   Currently, students cannot complete a FAFSA for the upcoming school year until January 1. For example, for the 2016–17 school year, an applicant cannot complete a FAFSA until Jan. 1, 2016. Beginning with the 2017–18 school year, applicants will be able to complete a FAFSA as early as October 1 of the previous year.

2. The FAFSA will collect income information from an earlier tax year.

   The second major change also begins with the 2017–18 FAFSA cycle. Currently, in addition to other information, FAFSA applicants (and their parents, if applicable) must report the prior year's income information. For example, for the 2016–17 school year, applicants must report income information for 2015—the tax year before the beginning of the school year. Beginning with the 2017–18 FAFSA, students will report income information from two years prior, which in this case is 2015 income information—two tax years before the beginning of the school year.

PSAT/NMSQT Information

The Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) is a program cosponsored by the College Board and National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC). It's a standardized test that provides firsthand practice for the SAT®. It also gives students in our junior class a chance to enter NMSC scholarship programs and gain access to college and career planning tools.

The PSAT/NMSQT measures:

- Evidence-based reading and writing
  - Reading test
  - Writing and language test

- Math

Students have developed these skills over many years, both in and out of school. This test does not require recall of specific facts from classes.

The most common reasons for taking the PSAT/NMSQT are to:

- Receive feedback regarding strengths and weaknesses on skills necessary for college study. Students can then focus preparation on those areas that could most benefit from additional study or practice.

- See how individual performance on an admissions test might compare with that of others applying to college.

- Enter the competition for scholarships from NMSC (grade 11).

- Help prepare for the SAT. Students can become familiar with the kinds of questions and the exact directions that will be on the SAT. The SAT is typically taken as early as the second semester of the junior year.

All juniors will be taking the PSAT during the school day. This provides students the opportunity to practice taking the exam in a controlled setting. Counselors will provide PSAT information to students shortly after school starts.

Once the exams are graded and the results are in, each student will receive their test results, their exam booklet and the answers. After reviewing their performance, students are able to focus on specific areas for growth. If students need help interpreting their exam scores, a counselor will be available to meet with them to review the results.

PSAT test date: Wednesday, October 19, 2016

During the School Day

How do I sign up?

1. Check with your teacher prior to signing up for a visit.
2. Log onto Naviance Family Connection at www.rhnet.org/navianceshs
How do I sign up - continued

3. Select the ‘Colleges’ Tab.
4. Under Upcoming college visits - Select ‘view all upcoming college visits.’
5. Choose the college visits you would like to attend.
6. Select ‘sign up,’ then ‘sign me up.’
7. You will see a green confirmation box on the page when this is completed correctly.
8. Print this confirmation page (CTRL P). This will be your pass out of class and into the visit.
9. Make sure your teacher signs the confirmation page to allow you out of class.
10. Bring the signed confirmation page (pass) with you to the visit.

➤ Attendance will be taken at the college presentations. Please be considerate of our college reps, and sign up only for meetings that you will definitely attend.
➤ Remember, it is your responsibility to confirm with your teacher that you can miss class for a college visit. You are responsible for any missed work during that time period.
➤ If a meeting is during lunch, you can bring lunch with you to the visit.

Why should I meet with College Reps?

Every fall, representatives from college admission offices visit high schools around the country to present informational programs to prospective students, their parents, and counselors. During their visits, college reps meet with interested students in small groups to discuss topics like the academic programs, campus life, financial aid programs, and admission procedures of their college. They will also answer students’ questions. With so much information already available to students on college websites, in college catalogs, and elsewhere, you may wonder why you should attend these in-person sessions. Below are six reasons:

1. Students have a chance—in their own hometown—to meet face to face with a representative from the college and to ask specific questions.
2. Students can let the college know they are seriously interested.
3. Since the reps are admission officers from the college, students have a unique opportunity to make contact with a person who may be evaluating their application in the future.
4. The meeting provides students with a specific contact at the college to whom they can send questions.
5. Sometimes reps, particularly ones from state universities, will give an early read on students’ transcripts, test scores, course selections, and so on during their visits. This helps students assess their fit at that institution and figure out what they can do to improve their chances of getting in.
6. It's an opportunity for a counselor to bring to a student's attention a school that he/she thinks is a good fit but that the student may not have considered.

Another reason has to do with the somewhat controversial admissions practice of assessing demonstrated interest, in which admissions officers judge which students are most interested in attending their college, and admit applicants partially on that basis. This is one way to increase a college's yield (the number of students accepted by a school who actually enroll). Military Visits

Representatives from all branches of the U.S. Military visit the high school each month to talk with R-H students. They are located at tables outside the cafeteria during lunches. The Military Visit schedule is as follows:

- U. S. Air Force 1st Tuesday
- U. S. Army 2nd Tuesday
- U. S. Army National Guard 3rd Thursday
- U. S. Marines 2nd Wednesday
- U. S. Navy 1st Thursday
Success Starts With a Plan
In a world of options, students need a road map to success.

Naviance Family Connection

We are pleased to offer our students and families access to Naviance Family Connection! We are using this tool with students in grades 6-12 to assist in career development and college planning. This web-based program will complement the annual guidance reviews, series of career speakers, classroom presentations, on-line educational videos, and college information sessions counselors will continue to offer students.

Students will work with this program throughout the school year in classroom lessons provided by their school counselors. Parents are encouraged to sign on to Naviance Family Connection with their students to do some exploring on the site. Naviance Family Connection will be essential in exploring careers, majors, colleges, scholarships, and so much more.

Students and parents will be able to:

- Receive important news about college visits, college fair information, and events at the Ninth Grade Academy and Senior High School.
- Contact counselors directly by e-mail.
- Access scholarship applications, application websites, and college related links.
- Construct their activities résumé.
- Access a comprehensive college search engine.
- Explore career interest inventories, personality profiler, and learning style

Write a Great College Admissions Essay

Don’t let the college admissions essay intimidate you. Remember, it’s the part of your application that is fully under your control. Make it work to your advantage!

Don’t recycle essays. Nothing will land your essay in the circular file faster than an obviously recycled or “near match” essay.

Be yourself. Choose a topic that is meaningful to you. Write in your own words. Write what you feel, not what you think the admissions committee wants to hear. “The essay is the candidate’s opportunity to explain to us who they are and why they are unique,” says Charlotte Lazor, associate director of admission information systems for Wesleyan University.

Don’t overextend. Don’t take on too big of a topic, and don’t adopt a preachy tone. College admission officers don’t want to be lectured on rainforest destruction. Instead, tell them how you became interested in environmentalism.

Be creative. Try to come up with something different. Remember that the people reviewing your essay have read hundreds — if not thousands — of essays. Don’t give them one more “The Teacher Who Influenced Me Most” or “Drinking and Driving is Bad” essay to wade through.

Captivate your audience. Your essay needs to be engaging and memorable. Try to draw the reader in with a quick, enticing introduction. You want to catch their interest and give them a reason to finish your essay.

Accentuate the positive. If you’re writing about a traumatic experience, describe the negatives but don’t dwell on them. Rather, explore how the experience changed you and what you took away from it.

Leave time for drafting. Write a first draft. Let it sit for a few days. Then review it carefully and look for weak or dull spots, as well as spelling and grammatical errors. Never let your first draft be your final draft.

Revise, rewrite, reword. Revision is the key to all good writing including college application essays. Hammer your draft into shape through various rewrites. Read each draft aloud. Your ears can pick up problems that your eyes may miss.

Ask for input. Teachers, counselors, friends, parents, siblings – ask people you respect for some candid feedback. “What do you think I’m trying to say?” “Does it sound confusing?” “Is it boring?” “Do I come across well?”

Pursue perfection. No essay needs to be error-free more than this one. Have your English teacher look it over. Quadruple-check the spelling. Type your essay carefully. Don’t let careless mistakes get between you and the school of your dreams.

Freaking Out About Applying to College
Don't Do That

www.guidancedirect.com

Peer pressure is an amazing thing.

There haven't been ten days of school in many states, but some seniors are already convinced everyone is ahead of them in the rush to college. "I'm all through with my applications" beams Jennifer. "I've narrowed my Early Decision colleges down to two" boasts another student. "I'm almost done with my first application" crows a third, "my essay is all that's left."

Seniors, it is September 18th. College doesn't start for 11 months. No college has closed admission, and one isn't likely to until November 30. After that, there will only be, oh, about 3000 other colleges to choose from. Many of them don't require test scores or essays, most don't let students apply Early Decision --and they totally rock. So there's time.

But enough about them. Let's talk about you.

When was the last time something good ever happened to your life when you took a snapshot of somebody else's life and assumed it was wonderful? Jennifer may be finished applying to college, but maybe that's because her mother was holding the car keys hostage until the apps were done. Does that make for great college essays --especially since essays due January 1st should be reviewed December 15th, just in case the first four months of senior year have changed you, the way you look at the world, or what you want to do with your life?

And your friend who's choosing an Early Decision school --does he understand this is like marriage? Sure, more ED students get admitted (by percentage) than students who wait --but if your one ED college accepts you, you have to go there. Done, Decided. Welcome to the Family. If your friend has doubts about both of these schools, maybe it isn't time to book the bachelor party just yet. Instead, he should find some other colleges that have the best qualities of both schools, apply to all of them as a regular applicant, and see what feels best eight months from now.

As for our applicant who needs to finish her essays, she is probably stuck on her essays. If so, it's likely she is trying to write them Tuesday night at 10, after a full day of school, band practice, homework, and a dinner that involves microwaved pasta, no lettuce, and little family time. If this describes your friend, here is her antidote --no essays on Tuesday. Carve a two-hour block out of Saturday or Sunday (or both), work on your applications then --and only then --and forget about them during the week. That way, you get to study and learn, work on the homecoming float, have a great senior year, and write great college essays to boot. Plus, your applications will be done by Thanksgiving, so you can spend Christmas break with your family, not with your computer.

The root of all bad living lies in thinking someone else has it better than you --it can make you feel trapped, confused, and unworthy. Funny thing is, that isn't because of pressure a peer is putting on you; that's because of pressure you're putting on yourself.

It's time to deflate. Be happy Jennifer's mom is off her back, tell the bridegroom ED doesn't have to be, and make sure your pal with the essays gets a real meal next Tuesday. You'll be happier, they'll be happier, and you may find your first college application will be easier to complete than you thought.
An outgrowth of the Statement of Principles of Good Practice, the Students’ Rights Statement makes clear to entering college students those “rights” which are only alluded to by the Principles of Good Practice. It also spells out the responsibilities students have in the admission process.

WHEN YOU APPLY TO COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES YOU HAVE RIGHTS

Before You Apply:
* You have the right to receive factual and comprehensive information from colleges and universities about their admission, financial costs aid opportunities, practices and packaging policies, and housing policies. If you consider applying under an early admission, early action decision plan, you have a right to complete information from the college about its processes and policies.

When You Are Offered Admission:
* You have the right to wait to respond to an offer of admission and/or financial aid until May 1.
* Colleges that request commitments to offers of admission and/or financial assistance prior to May 1 must clearly offer you the opportunity to request (in writing) an extension until May 1. They must grant you this extension and your request may not jeopardize your status for admission and/or financial aid. (This right does not apply to candidates admitted under an early decision program.)

If You Are Placed on a Wait List or Alternate List:
* The letter that notifies you of that placement should provide a history that describes the number of students on the wait list, the number offered admission, and the availability of financial aid and housing.
* Colleges may require neither a deposit nor a written commitment as a condition of remaining on a wait list.
* Colleges are expected to notify you of the resolution of your wait list status by August 1 at the latest.

WHEN YOU APPLY TO COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES YOU HAVE RESPONSIBILITIES

Before You Apply:
* You have a responsibility to research, and to understand and comply with the policies and procedures of each college or university regarding application fees, financial aid, scholarships, and housing. You should also be sure that you understand the policies of each college or university regarding deposits that you may be required to make before you enroll.

As You Apply:
* You must complete all materials that are required for application and submit your application on or before the published deadlines. You should be the sole author of your applications.
* You should seek the assistance of your high school counselor early and throughout the application period. Follow the process recommended by your high school for filing college applications.
* It is your responsibility to arrange, if appropriate, for visits to and/or interviews at colleges of your choice.

After You Receive Your Admission Decisions:
* You must notify each college or university that accepts you whether you are accepting or rejecting its offer. You should make these notifications as soon as you have made a final decision as to the college that you wish to attend, but no later than May 1. It is understood that May 1 will be the postmark date.
* You may confirm your intention to enroll and, if required, submit a deposit to only one college or university. The exception to this arises if you are put on a wait list by a college or university and are later admitted to that institution. You may accept the offer and send a deposit. However, you must immediately notify a college or university at which you previously indicated your intention to enroll.
* If you are accepted under an early decision plan, you must promptly withdraw the applications submitted to other colleges and universities and make no additional applications. If you are an early decision candidate and are seeking financial aid, you need not withdraw other applications until you have received notification about financial aid.

If you think that your rights have been denied, you should contact the college or university immediately to request additional information or the extension of a reply date. In addition, you should ask your counselor to notify the president of the state or regional affiliate of the National Association for College Admission Counseling. If you need further assistance, send a copy of any correspondence you have had with the college or university and a copy of your letter of admission to: NACAC, 1631 Prince Street, Alexandria, VA 22314

Student-Athletes Planning to Play a Sport in College:

You must register with the NCAA Eligibility Center at http://eligibilitycenter.org

Every college-bound student athlete who will be attending an NCAA Division I or II institution for the first time must be certified by the eligibility center. You should register for the eligibility center at the beginning of your junior year in high school. See your counselor for details. The 2016-17 Guide for the College-Bound Student-Athlete is available at: http://www.ncaapublications.com/productdownloads/CBSA17.pdf

CAREER INFORMATION:

Exploring is a program that gives high school students a chance to check out a career they’re interested in. It’s a career-education program that allows students to learn more about a particular career through hands-on activities led by people in the working world. Exploring ‘Posts’ are groups of students from all over the county who are interested in the same career. They are hosted by area businesses to explore that career in depth. Posts are offered in over 100 different fields from ambulance services to zoology. Many new Exploring Posts open during the fall, including those listed below. Check in the College & Career Center, on the CCC webpage at www.rhnet.org/ccc or the Exploring website at www.rochesterexploring.org for details and future Post openings! For more information, contact Keith Gomez at:

241-8558 or email Keith.Gomez@scouting.org.

How Colleges Determine Merit Scholarships by Lynn O'Shaughnessy

How do colleges and universities decide who will get their merit scholarships? Grade point averages, standardized test scores, and the strength of your high school curriculum often play a significant role. However, there are other factors, particularly at private schools, that can play a supporting role in determining which students pocket awards.

Teenagers who receive merit awards are happy to receive the money, but they often don't know what it took to earn them. That's why I was happy to stumble across the blueprint for the merit awards that the University of Rochester dispensed to its latest crop of freshmen.

Jonathan Burdick, the undergraduate dean of admissions and financial aid, decided to take a look after the 2011-12 class was formed to see what factors had mattered in merit award decisions. Even better, Burdick assigned a dollar value to these factors.

I found the merit aid breakdown fascinating. While all schools will have their own criteria, this list will give you some sense of what matters beyond the obvious. Here's how Rochester's merit awards played out during the past admissions cycle:

- $3,000: The school typically rewarded candidates who reached out to it with an extra $3,000. These were teenagers who had serious conversations with the admissions and financial aid office. Schools like to feel wanted, and reaching out to them with meaningful conversations can help.

- $2,000: That's what teens who weren't New Yorkers received. Sixty two percent of the freshmen class hails from somewhere else. While Burdick didn't check, he suspects that students who lived farther away received an even fatter amount of money.

Why would students benefit from being from distant states? Because college crave geographic diversity. They want to be able to brag that they have students from all 50 states or close to it.

- $62: Each "A" on a teen's transcript generated $62 worth of merit aid.

- $400: Teenagers received roughly $400 for each tough course that they took. Courses that would qualify included Advanced Placement, International Baccalaureate, and honors.

- $1,800: A student got this much more if the school considered his or her recommendations excellent.

- $115: Each 10-point improvement in the SAT above the average for Rochester freshmen garnered an extra $115. The average SAT score was 2040.

- $400: Observing deadlines matter. Students got an extra $400 for completing the application on time, as well as making sure mid-year grades were sent.

- $1.89: You got this much less every time a student was admitted with the same major. This clearly favored students with less popular majors such as philosophy and hurt students interested in such big majors as psychology, political science, and economics.

- $1,700: That's how much the typical freshmen received in merit money if his or her parents completed the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The school imposes a progressive tax on its merit awards. On average, $4 less in income boosts the merit award by one cent.

Completing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA℠) is the first step toward getting federal aid for college.

www.fafsa.gov

More than $150 billion in grants, loans, and work-study funds are provided each year, but you have to complete the FAFSA to see if you can get any of that money.

To apply for federal student aid, you need to complete the FAFSA or Free Application for Federal Student Aid. Completing and submitting the FAFSA is free and easier than ever, and it gives you access to the largest source of financial aid. Go to www.fafsa.gov.

For students planning to apply for financial aid for the 2016-17 academic year, (this year’s senior class), the FAFSA should be completed as soon as possible after January 1, 2017.

Remember, the FAFSA is FREE!

If you accidentally go to www.fafsa.com, the site will look official but it is a scam and will ask you for payment! Get more information regarding financial aid at http://studentaid.ed.gov.

The CSS/FINANCIAL AID PROFILE is a supplemental financial aid form required by some private colleges to determine your Expected Family Contribution. Some colleges require this in addition to the FAFSA. It is a fully online service that helps colleges and organizations award their private student aid funds. The CSS/Financial Aid PROFILE 2016-2017 Student Guide is available and can be accessed by going to http://student.collegeboard.org/css-financial-aid-profile. Some local schools requiring the CSS/FINANCIAL AID PROFILE are Cornell University, Nazareth College, Syracuse University and the University of Rochester. Be sure to check if the schools to which you are applying require the PROFILE. The list of schools is available at www.collegeboard.org. The fee is $25 for the application and $16 for each additional school report. Once registered, the application can be completed and submitted immediately or at a later time. Contact information: 305-829-9793 or help@cssprofile.org.

Additional websites are available to help you with financial aid. Go to the College & Career Center web page at www.rhnet.org/ccc; click on ‘Helpful Links’; then click on ‘Financial Aid.’

VOLUNTEER INFORMATION:

- Red Cross Student Volunteer Directory is your online resource for volunteer opportunities. Here you can find over 70 ways to help others in the community by contributing your valuable talents and skills as a youth volunteer. By browsing or searching the comprehensive database, you can find a volunteer position that is just right for you. The directory lists volunteer opportunities at non-profit agencies throughout the Rochester area. Visit www.redcross.org/ny/rochester and select ‘Volunteer.’

- ARC of Monroe County is looking for My Time Providers (formerly Special Sitters). A My Time Provider is someone who is at least 14 years old who will receive special training to be an in-home care provider to families with a child who is developmentally disabled. A student who is interested in becoming a provider will undergo 20 hours of training that includes instruction in developmental disabilities, care providing, First Aid, CPR, and in the special sensitivities required to handle the disabled child and his/her family. Working as a Special Sitter is an excellent career exploration opportunity for students interested in special education, medicine, health, or therapy. It’s also a chance to earn money while gaining valuable experience in human services. If you have questions or would like to hear more about the program, call Laura Jane Truesdell, Coordinator of the ARC My Time Providers Program at 271-0660, ext. 1352.

- CP Rochester: Volunteers are needed to work with both adults and children with developmental disabilities and physical challenges. Programs needing volunteers include: Visual Arts and Recreational Horseback Riding on Saturdays, Bowling on Wednesdays, Pre-school Swimming Monday-Thursday and several one-time events. For more information, contact Tina Bennett, Volunteer Coordinator at 334-6000 ext. 1321 or email: t_bennett@cprochester.org

- Ronald McDonald House - House at Westmoreland, 333 Westmoreland Dr. Whether it’s cooking meals, cleaning and preparing rooms for families, helping in the office, or driving our van, the time you give makes it possible for our families to be with their children during a very difficult time. Special Events volunteers help us raise funds critical to keeping our doors open for families when they need us most. If you are an individual looking for an ongoing opportunity, or part of a group looking for a one-time project, there’s a place for you at the Ronald McDonald House. Volunteers must be at least 16 years old or accompanied by an adult. Visit http://ronaldshouse.com/volunteers

- TIES - Together Including Every Student is a program that promotes the participation of children/young adults with developmental disabilities in extracurricular and community activities with support from trained student volunteers. After volunteers attend a 45-minute training session, they could be paired with participants to join activities together. The commitment is based on your schedule – it could be once a month or a couple of times a month or more infrequently. More information and application forms are available in the College & Career Center. If you have any questions, contact Elena Camerieri at 385-9609 or email Elena at: erlmv@rochester.rr.com.

- Volunteer Match is a site where you can type in your zip code and find local organizations looking for volunteers. www.volunteermatch.org.
