

Learning to Navigate Your Child's Online Community

Tuesday, April 26, 2016
7:00 to 8:00 p.m.
R-H Senior High School Auditorium
1799 Lehigh Station Rd.

Internet Safety

Parents and community members are invited to attend this presentation regarding online social networking and its influences on our children.

You will learn about the basics in navigating these sites and assess the online community in which children live and navigate.

The explosion of social networking has changed the way we live and communicate. Using social media can be like navigating a big city you have never visited before.

This presentation will demonstrate some simple online investigative skills and identify how you and your child can best navigate the online world to keep them healthy and safe.

*Please join us on April 26th in the high school auditorium.
This event is for parents and guardians, grades K-12.*

Speaker: Jared Olson

Jared is a national consultant and trainer who uses his prior law enforcement experience in investigating early internet crimes to teach parents and community members how social media is used by the youth today. His background includes instructing law enforcement professionals how to use social media to investigate and prosecute underage drinking, impaired driving and vehicular homicide crimes.
